It is impossible for a journal that is edited in any considerable degree by a contribution-box, though under the supervision of a masterly and faarles manager, to exhit il either consistency of tone or no failing skill and ability linigine, indicions reeder, a paper that should admit helly to its columns the uenbrations of Buchanan, the disquisitions of Black, the declamations of 11 st, the squibs and pasquinades of the verious literary or half-literary elerks in the Departments, and the compositions on public questions of every reribbling 1. cofeco iu Congress! Volunteer articles, on questions of interest, are of course sometimes highly acceptable to the conductors of public journals, but, as a general thing so far at least as our experience goes, It costs quite as much as they ere worth to fit them for publica tion or to explain and dofend them afterwards. lutsiders who offer voluntarily to write for the editorial columns of newspapers should make it a point write not only from the slanding-point but in the spirit carefully as they possibly can. In other words, they should put themselves in full conformity with

But we have rembied far from the point at which we designed to stop.

The Opposition members of the Ilouse at Frankfort who participated in the debate on the alavery queetion last Friday were Mr. Burnam, of Madison, Mr. Rodman, of Franklin, and Mr Wolfe, of our city. We hear the effort of each of these gentlemen spoken of in the highest terms of admiration on every side. They are all strong and impossioned speakers, and we are assured that on this occasion they all did beeutiful justice to their acknowledged powers. The point to which In this debute Messrs. Burn am, Rodman, and Wolfe addressed themselv especially was thu advocacy of an amendment of fercel by Mr. Burnam to the majority report of the House committee on Federal Relations. The Frank fort Commouwealth hestows deserved praise of both the amendment and its champions. "Ot readers." says the Commonwealth, "will perceiv that this amendment embodies the precise view enunciated by Hon. Joshua F. Bell and the Opposi tion during the last Gubernatorial canvass. It em bodies the same views which the Courier and Pedo eah llern'd said that Gov. Magotha maintained The e'cquent gantleman from Madison advocated the doctrire of this amandment with great earnest nese and power. lie was most ahly sustained by Mr Rodman, the abie Ropresentative from this county The speech of Mr. R. was a decided success. B ws cannot tee highly command the remarks of Mr. Wolfe upon the same side of the question. A crowded house listered with the intenseet interest duting his entire speech, which was worthy of Mr. Wolfe's distinguished reputation." And we happen to know from various other sonices that this warm and graceful praise is strictly just. It is nothing | tainly however the amount of killing done in that mora than even the adversaries of these genilemen cheerfully allow. Indeed, we are told that certain parison with the equipments. portions of Mr. Wolfe's speech draw forth the ap plause of the Democratic side of the House as well as of the Opposition. To tell the trnth, we don't exac'ly eee why the Damocratic side of the House didn't join fervently with the Opposition in supporting the runndoient itself. And we fear the omission will puzzle the Democratic masses as greatly as it does us. On this point, however, we shail prohably have something to eay bereafter.

Rufus Choate was undoubtedly a very bril liant man, but it has always seemed to us that he lacked utterly the great and precious faculty of representing trulb.

The genius of Cheate was essentially bombasti Nearly all his most celebrated specches were made of whole cloth of the sort denominated fuetisn. The following rhetorical sally of Choate's which is going the rounds of the press might in our opi nion stand fitly for almost everything he eversaid

A witness once testified, in reference to one of bis clients, that he had called upon him on Friday evening, found him crylng, and on asking him what was the matter, received in answer, "I'm afrail I've run egainst a snag." This was rendered by Mr. Choate somewhat in this way: "Such were his feelings and such his ections down to that fatal Friday night, when, at ten o'cleck, in that flood of teers, his hope went on tike a candia." teers, his hope want out like a candie." Perhaps the ennals of literature do not efford :

more thoroughly characteristic anecdole than this. Considered merely as an indication of intellect or of geulus, it is hardly above the suphuism of the lady who etartled her host at table hy coying that alse would thank bias for "the portion of the chicken that got ever the fence last." It helongs substan tially to the same order of manifestation The fact is, Choate, regarded at least from th nimple artistic point of view, was little else than a finished and magnificent fionrisher. There was no literary truth in him. We doubt if he hae apoken or written anything that will survive his own times.

petition is circulating in New York that the Legislature of that State pass a law allowing Southern men the right to take their servants there and continue to hold them there legally during a temporary residence of not more than nine months. We suspect that such a law, if enacted, would have just about as much practical veine as the fugitive slave law.

When the twenty-one delegates to the Democratic Frankfort Convention put their interrogation points at Mr. Guthrie, we, after mature consideration, eaid: "Mr. Guthrie, don't answer inroads into States," &c. Why not theu extend them." Mr. Guthrie didn't. Mr. Guthrie knows where th look for good counsel.

The Alton (lil.) Conrier says that a negro woman, known as Granny Buck, died near that city on the 13th ult., at the almost incredible age of 125 years. We suppose that not more than one read with interest. The resolutions are nobly firm Granny Buck is now left in the country. The Southern fire-esters are fast coming to the conclusion that the Northern Lighte are a miserable humbug, and that the North ster is a mere will-o-the-wisp without the slightest stability But Mr. Guthrie has enemies in the Damocratic party in Kentneky. Admit it. What great and pure man ever lived who had none?—Courier.

The Conrier wants to know what great and pure man ever lived that hadn't enemies in the Democratic perty in Kentneky. We admit that none such could be named. The Minnesota Times undertakes to tell what the Louisville Journal is "virtually" saying and doing. Perhaps It means virtuously.

origin of the word Hoosier as follows:

Louisville was a great resort for the Indiana folks, and very frequently rows would occur. The Kantucky hullies would swear they were "half hoose, hulf alligator, and the balance enapln'-lurtle." On a certain occasion a Mr. Short, who had heard old Col. Lemonosky lecture on the wars of Napoleon, in which he related the hattles of the Cosacks and Hussars (the Colonel pronounced it Hoosars), was in Louisvilla, and got into a mavs, when he jumped up and swore he was a Hoosar; almos which time we have heen called Hoosars.
